There currently is no central campus lost and found system, making it difficult for students to report, track, and recover lost items.